There are so many exciting adventures to be had in October! And from a toddler’s perspective, everything is a new and amazing experience. Even the simple act of raking leaves can be exciting for your little one. And if you are feeling daring, you can jump in them too!

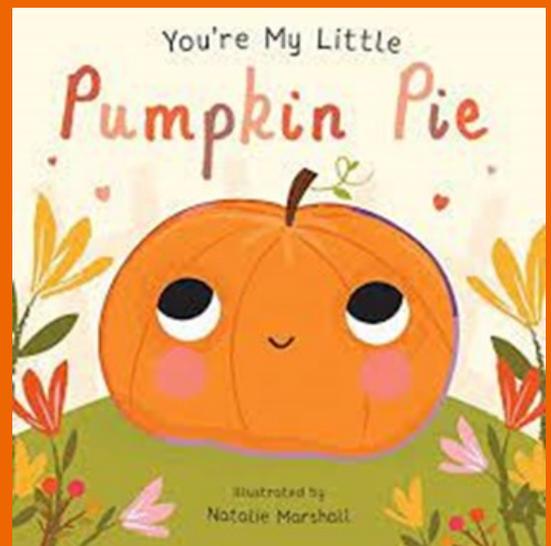

Pumpkin Fun!

Pumpkins are a big deal in October, and you can find one anywhere at this time of year.

Finding pumpkins of different sizes are a great way to teach big and little. And, of course, learning about the color orange. Or add pumpkins and fall leaves to a bin and create a fabulous sensory bin for your toddler to explore texture.

And there's nothing better than ending the day with a book and some yummy apple cider! Click the pictures below for more details.
